

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT

Most Solemn Occasion of the Jewish Year.

HOLD SERVICES ALL DAY

Eloquent Sermon Delivered Last Evening by Dr. Calisch at Beth Ahaba on "Penitence and Prayer." Two Sermons To-Day.

The Day of Atonement, the most solemn festival of the Jewish year, a time of fasting, penitence and prayer, will be observed to-day.

At Beth Ahaba Synagogue the services will be of a solemn and impressive character. The first of these was held last evening at 6 o'clock. To-day the services will begin at 10 A. M. and continue until 6 P. M. Dr. Calisch will preach twice during the day. At noon his subject will be "The Jewish Day of Atonement." In the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, "Our Father's God." He will be assisted in the services during the day by Mr. Ellis Bottigheimer and Mr. Charles Hutzler. The regular choir will be assisted by a volunteer choir, of which Miss Kate Binswanger will be the soloist.

At the service yesterday afternoon Dr. Calisch preached an eloquent sermon on "Penitence and Prayer." He said:

"The All-merciful desires the heart."

"When you pray, know unto whom you are praying."

Dear Friends,—The closing day has brought to us the most solemn of our holy days. The deepening twilight finds us all gathered within the walls of our house of prayer, for earnest, heartfelt and reverent meditation. There are moments in life when life's noblest and holiest aspect is clearly seen by us—when the glare of its inner and spangles any more deceives or dazzles the eye. We view life with earnest and reverent spirit because we see that life is an earnest and reverent thing. Such a moment comes to us on this atonement day. We are here at the beginning of a day that is to be wholly devoted unto God. For the next four and twenty hours all material and selfish interests are to be laid aside. We discard for the day all our ambitions for power or place or wealth, all our worldly plans and desires. We deny even the wants of the body, and we subjugate the claims of physical hunger and thirst to the enrichment of the spirit and the development of the strength of soul. It is an impressive and a wonderful hour, this Kail Nidre hour, an hour of heart-searching and of soul-honesty! An hour of sanctified preparation for the great service of atonement.

ASSURED OF PARDON.

We are assured of a gracious pardon in answer to the plea of our penitence. For the God we worship is not a God of fierce and enduring wrath, but of divine compassion and fatherly love. And one of the sweetest gifts which He has given to man is the power and the privilege of penitence. The rabbi taught in the Talmud that "penitence was created before the world came into being. Like unto a king who makes the ground sure before erecting his palace thereon. And again he said, "Before the world (which sin inflicts upon the soul), the heavenly Physician has prepared the healing ointment." We know that man is prone to sin. Sin and wrong are in this world, not as intrinsic and absolute evils, but as an educative influence; as necessary accessories to our soul training. The world is not full of wrong and evil and iniquity. On the contrary, it is a generous, glorious and beautiful creation of the Divine hand. But the world is the gymnasium of the soul, wherein we are to struggle and wrestle in sturdy and often fiercely trying conflicts, in order that the soul might grow stronger in the trials. But many a time we slip and fall, and to heal the bruises that our soul has received in our falls and slips have we this solemn, yet blessed, day of penitence and atonement.

We have come here to-night to seek forgiveness through this penitence. We are all of us here, the old and the young, the strong and the weak, the prosperous and the poor, those who hope and those who fear, those whose hearts are filled with sadness and those whose breasts are thronged with joyous emotions. There are here those who have learned to realize the meaning of life, and those for whom life has thus far passed tracelessly as a bird cleaves the air. There are those who stand erect in the achievement of what men call success; there are those who are bowed down under the burden of what men call failure. There are those here to-night to whom their religion is a near and precious thing, and some to whom it is an accident of birth and nothing more. There are here those who, like Noah of old, walk with God and hold Him to be an ever present strength and a sure refuge at all times. There may be some for whom the name of God has no depth of meaning—it is empty of significance, a thing to be used, perhaps, to strengthen an oath, or at best to be cried out in frenzied appeal when anguish grips the soul and the spirit sinks bubbling into the sea of agony. And there are those to whom in their pride their conduct is a thing for self-satisfaction, who, in arrogance of spirit, wrap themselves in their goodness as a garment and trail their righteousness as a robe, and complacently hold themselves as superior to the common throng. And there are those whose conduct would gleam as a dazzling gem, but that it is veiled in modesty and unobtrusively withdrawn into the chambers of silence—those whose gifts are given with grace and willing readiness, whose charity is spontaneous and free, whose service is unselfish and noble, and yet who look not upon themselves with complacent self-gratulation, nor regard their path as lying on the heights of superior purity.

EXTENSION AND PRAYER.

There are all these here to-night, and to all of them there is the same message. We have all of us the need of penitence and prayer. We must all of us bow our heads and bend our knees and with contrite heart seek pardon from the all-pardoning Father. And will He hear us? Aye, surely, for "the hand of the Most Holy, blessed be He, is wide open to receive the penitent." There is no obstacle in the path of your return save in your own heart. "The All-merciful demands the heart." Your heart must be freely, wholly, completely given unto Him, in humility and in prayer. There can be no equivocation, no reservation, no withholding. "With all my heart I have sought Thee," said the Psalmist (119-10), and thus must we do. There can be no trifling in the presence of the Omnipotent, no cajoling of one's conscience that there is a little, petty sin hidden away in an obscure corner—a sin which I do not intend to renounce. There can be no pride of piety to say: "I have fulfilled the letter of the law; I am not guilty of sin." There can be no suppression of the intent and desire to lead a better life, to pursue a course of action strictly honorable and upright, to be kind and loving and generous, to be temperate and chaste and God-fearing. There can be none of these things.

There must be honesty. The equivocal confession is utterly in vain. There must be humility. The proud cannot be penitent. There must be sincerity in the prayer and purpose of amendment. "When you pray, know before whom you are praying," taught the fathers. If your lips pray for pardon, but not your heart, think you you will be heard? You hope to have Him hear your words, yet have you hearkened unto Him? He speaks to you through the mouth of prophets and sages. He speaks to you through teacher and parent. He speaks to you through the perpetual revelation in the history of man; through the glorious harmony of the worlds; through the majesty, the beauty, the inerrant order of the processes of nature. He speaks to you in the still, small, yet unceasing voice of conscience—and do you harken unto Him?

And yet He will hear you. "Nigh is He unto all who call upon Him; who call upon Him in truth." (Psalm 145). Remember you are praying to the All-Knowing, to whom all mysteries of the universe are revealed and all hidden things clear as the noon-day sun; who probes the arcana of the heart and searches the most inward parts. Before Him there can be no deception, and in His sight no falsehood remain. His fatherly arms are open, and His ready compassion will overflow. So on this day let us give Him unreservedly and wholly our heart, our soul, our unrestricted and unwarded penitence. Let us deal honestly and sincerely with ourselves. Have you done all that you could for truth and righteousness? Have you sought always to give your fellow-man his full and just due, even at cost to yourself?

FORGIVE AND BE FORGIVEN.

And have you been just and generous in your judgment of your fellowman, of your friends and neighbors? Do you not know of some wrong you have done to a brother? Some base, some unkind word you have said to or about him? Are you ready now to seek his forgiveness? His fatherly taught no man can give penitence to God until he has done penance to the man he has wronged. And are you ready to forgive the one who has wronged you? Even though he may not humble himself before you? He who refuses forgiveness breaks down a bridge over which he himself must cross. He who pardons not the wrong done to him cannot hope for pardon for the wrongs he has done. Oh, let there be an end of the quarrels between man and brother, between friends and neighbors. Let there be an end to the misunderstandings and the foolish bickerings in families, between brothers and sisters and dear ones. Let us all be ready to pardon and seek pardon; to ask and to bestow. Like Joseph of old, who said unto his brothers who had wronged him: "I am Joseph, your brother; now do not grieve or distress yourselves for what you have done, for I freely pardon all that has been done," so shall we, in whatever station of life, call unto others and say, "We are brothers; let us work together in love and peace, in friendship and in amity to do God's will, and to proclaim His law, His love and His eternal unity."

Then the solemn Atonement Day shall bring to us a deep and abiding peace, a peace that filleth the heart and passeth the understanding. Then shall its terror dissolve into gladness and its gloom fade away into joy. Then shall the load of sin roll off from our hearts and the beatitude of a purified and pardoned soul be ours. Then shall God rise from His throne of judgment to seat Himself upon the throne of mercy. Then shall, at the closing of the gates of day, be opened for us the gates of hope, of happiness, of heaven upon earth. Amen.

STAMPS ON TOBACCO

New Regulations Issued by Internal Revenue Collector.

Commissioner Yerkes, of the Internal Revenue bureau, has issued to internal revenue officers a circular modifying existing regulations relative to packages of tobacco of less quantity than one pound.

In order to meet what appears to be a reasonable and legitimate request on the part of manufacturers of tobacco for a modification of existing regulations in such a manner as to permit of the putting up of packages of cavendish, plug and twist tobacco of small denominations for use as samples which may be properly distributed through the mails or otherwise, the following is hereby suggested as a modification of the existing regulations:

The use of strip stamps for tobacco of the denominations of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100, 102, 104, 106, 108, 110, 112, 114, 116, 118, 120, 122, 124, 126, 128, 130, 132, 134, 136, 138, 140, 142, 144, 146, 148, 150, 152, 154, 156, 158, 160, 162, 164, 166, 168, 170, 172, 174, 176, 178, 180, 182, 184, 186, 188, 190, 192, 194, 196, 198, 200, 202, 204, 206, 208, 210, 212, 214, 216, 218, 220, 222, 224, 226, 228, 230, 232, 234, 236, 238, 240, 242, 244, 246, 248, 250, 252, 254, 256, 258, 260, 262, 264, 266, 268, 270, 272, 274, 276, 278, 280, 282, 284, 286, 288, 290, 292, 294, 296, 298, 300, 302, 304, 306, 308, 310, 312, 314, 316, 318, 320, 322, 324, 326, 328, 330, 332, 334, 336, 338, 340, 342, 344, 346, 348, 350, 352, 354, 356, 358, 360, 362, 364, 366, 368, 370, 372, 374, 376, 378, 380, 382, 384, 386, 388, 390, 392, 394, 396, 398, 400, 402, 404, 406, 408, 410, 412, 414, 416, 418, 420, 422, 424, 426, 428, 430, 432, 434, 436, 438, 440, 442, 444, 446, 448, 450, 452, 454, 456, 458, 460, 462, 464, 466, 468, 470, 472, 474, 476, 478, 480, 482, 484, 486, 488, 490, 492, 494, 496, 498, 500, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510, 512, 514, 516, 518, 520, 522, 524, 526, 528, 530, 532, 534, 536, 538, 540, 542, 544, 546, 548, 550, 552, 554, 556, 558, 560, 562, 564, 566, 568, 570, 572, 574, 576, 578, 580, 582, 584, 586, 588, 590, 592, 594, 596, 598, 600, 602, 604, 606, 608, 610, 612, 614, 616, 618, 620, 622, 624, 626, 628, 630, 632, 634, 636, 638, 640, 642, 644, 646, 648, 650, 652, 654, 656, 658, 660, 662, 664, 666, 668, 670, 672, 674, 676, 678, 680, 682, 684, 686, 688, 690, 692, 694, 696, 698, 700, 702, 704, 706, 708, 710, 712, 714, 716, 718, 720, 722, 724, 726, 728, 730, 732, 734, 736, 738, 740, 742, 744, 746, 748, 750, 752, 754, 756, 758, 760, 762, 764, 766, 768, 770, 772, 774, 776, 778, 780, 782, 784, 786, 788, 790, 792, 794, 796, 798, 800, 802, 804, 806, 808, 810, 812, 814, 816, 818, 820, 822, 824, 826, 828, 830, 832, 834, 836, 838, 840, 842, 844, 846, 848, 850, 852, 854, 856, 858, 860, 862, 864, 866, 868, 870, 872, 874, 876, 878, 880, 882, 884, 886, 888, 890, 892, 894, 896, 898, 900, 902, 904, 906, 908, 910, 912, 914, 916, 918, 920, 922, 924, 926, 928, 930, 932, 934, 936, 938, 940, 942, 944, 946, 948, 950, 952, 954, 956, 958, 960, 962, 964, 966, 968, 970, 972, 974, 976, 978, 980, 982, 984, 986, 988, 990, 992, 994, 996, 998, 1000.

HIS DEATH UNEXPECTED

Long and Plucky Fight Ends With Tragic Suddenness.

AN AMBASSADOR'S END

Sir Michael Herbert Succumbs to Consumption at Davos-Platz, Switzerland—Dramatic Announcement to Alaskan Commission.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, September 30.—Sir Michael Herbert, the British ambassador to the United States, died to-day at Davos-Platz, Switzerland, after a long and plucky fight against consumption, which terminated with tragic suddenness. The first announcement of the ambassador's untimely end was made at this afternoon's session of the Alaskan Boundary Commission. Hannis Taylor, in behalf of the United States, had finished his lengthy argument at about 3 P. M., and Sir Edward Carson, the solicitor-general, was replying, with an intricate legal argument, dealing with maps and the ancient Vancouver controversy, which was halfheartedly paid attention to by those present, and several made preparations to leave the hall as the solicitor-general delved deeper into the dry-ash details, when Chief Justice Alverstone held up his hand and Sir Edward sat down.

Later the commission, counsel and spectators all regarded as Lord Alverstone, with trembling voice and tears coursing down his cheeks, announced that Sir Michael Herbert was dead. Maps and boundaries were utterly forgotten. With dramatic pathos the international contestants became fellow-sufferers. Listening in stunned amazement to Lord Alverstone's tribute to the man whose death none even expected, Lord Alverstone paid a high tribute to the personal and official qualifications of the late ambassador.

In the meanwhile Ambassador Choate had entered. He had just come from Lord Lansdowne's room, where he learned the news. The intense silence which followed the delivery of Lord Alverstone's announcement was broken by Robert S. Dickinson, of the American counsel, who voiced the general sorrow and proposed an adjournment of the commission. Solicitor-General Carson followed, and the commission quietly broke up until to-morrow.

Sir Michael had been at Davos-Platz about five weeks. When he returned to London from America he confessed that he felt far from well, but his physicians still held out hopes of his conquering the consumption. The ambassador expected to leave Davos-Platz in a few days ago. In order to greet the Alaskan commissioners here, but he contracted bronchitis. Of this he wrote, only a few days ago, quite slightly, saying it was only annoying, but on account of it he decided to insist on his not going to London to greet his American friends.

Lady Herbert was to leave Davos-Platz some time ago with her children, but she changed her mind and remained with her husband.

Wed in Halifax, N. C.

Miss Bessie Foulkes, of Amelia county, Va., and Mr. Covington Hardy, of Church Hill, Dinwiddie county, were quietly married yesterday evening in Halifax, where they will make their future home.

MR. E. C. FOLKES ON SOCIAL-CLUB LAW

The History of the Matter as He Remembers It in Legislature.

The letter of Judge William H. Mann, author of the Mann bill, printed in yesterday's Times-Dispatch, caused much discussion of the provisions of that law on the streets yesterday, and especially among legislators and those familiar with the history of the bill.

The part taken by the Finance Committee of the House in the framing of the bill is a matter of dispute among members. Mr. E. C. Folkles, a member of the Richmond delegation in the House, discussing the matter yesterday, stated that Judge Mann was certainly badly informed as to the responsibility of the Finance Committee of the House for the present social club feature of the law.

Mr. Folkles, in a statement as to the legislation on this line, as he recalls it, says:

"Judge Mann is certainly badly informed about the Finance Committee of the House being the father of the present social club law.

"Those who really took an interest in Simon-pure temperance legislation, will remember that the House Finance Committee even went so far as to propose the abolition of the old social club law, and come out of the committee room to the House with the old liquor license law this provision in effect. This social club law is not a new law, but a modification of the present social club law on the same terms as retail liquor dealers or bar-rooms. This provision subjected them to the Sunday law, and, in fact, put them, as far as selling liquor was concerned, on the same footing as bar-rooms."

"Some of the members said that a complaint would arise, and it did arise, from a very powerful source, to wit: the very aristocratic clubs in various parts of the State, which protested that this provision put them under police surveillance, and that under it they could not dispense liquors on Sundays."

"Then Mr. Cardwell, of Hanover, proposed on the floor of the House the present social club law and pushed it through. Of course, being the maker of the motion in the committee, which placed all people on the same footing who retailed liquor, I raised an objection, and this Finance Committee, by a vote of 10 to 9, the present law was put in the place of the old law. I do not propose to have this thing said on the House Finance Committee."

"Of course, Judge Mann had nothing to do with it. He had no more to do with the present social club law than he had to do with the amendment providing for the revoking of the license of those who sold liquor on Sunday and to minors. I proposed this as new matter in the Conference Committee, and it was about all they let me have. Permit me to say that while I have cast votes in the Legislature that I deeply regret in the light of after events, and for which I most humbly beg forgiveness, yet I have suffered no change as yet on the temperance question, and while I am sorry to be numbered among the 'goats,' yet I will be guilty of 'crowing' a little on the temperance question, for it was I who proposed the present Sunday law and minor law, with a penalty of revoking the license of guilty parties. And I further proposed to break up the Sunday liquor selling of social clubs."

GREAT WILL BE HORSE SHOW HERE

Number of Entries and the Standard Ahead of Anything Outside New York.

With the Horse Show nearly two weeks in the future, the sale of seats yesterday was the heaviest since they were offered, a large number of the most desirable ones going. Entries will close to-day, but those mailed October 1st will be received even if they do not reach the city before October 2d. The management is already rushed receiving and recording entries, and will be busy as a hive of bees for the next two days. Already a large number have been received and recorded, including some of the most famous horses in the country. Many entries have been made by local exhibitors in various classes, and Richmond and vicinity are going to be much better represented at the show than was thought some days ago. Among the well known exhibitors is Hon. Henry Fairfax, member of the Corporation Commission, who has a fine stock farm at Aldie, Loudoun county. He has nine entries in the saddle and harness classes, and has some horses that are going to be heard from when the ribbons are handed out by the judges.

Box-holders are urged to call for their seats to-day, and before 3 P. M., if possible. This is the last day for calling for them. The management have many urgent calls for boxes, and unless those who have asked to have them reserved desire the tickets the boxes can be disposed of in a twinkling.

Some idea of the magnitude of the show, compared with last year's, may be had from the statement that the number of box stalls has been more than doubled and still others will be built. Secretary Warden, Manager Smith and President Anderson are all up to their eyes in work. To-day and to-morrow and Saturday promise to be the hardest days of the show season for the management.

No announcement of entries can be made before all are in and they have been tabulated in the classes to which they belong. This will make it early next week in all probability before the entries can be announced in full. It is certain that the number of entries and the standard of them have never been even approximated at any show south of New York city.

The Marine Band, of Washington, which has been engaged to play for the exhibitions each evening and to give daily concerts from 11 A. M. to 1 P. M., is in great demand, and has just gone to Chicago to play at the celebration of the centennial of the founding of that city. The first forenoon concert will be given on Wednesday, and on each forenoon thereafter.

The building, track, band-stand, boxes and ring are all in perfect condition now, and will be kept so until the first class is called into the ring before admiring thousands. All indications point to the largest and most distinguished crowd that ever attended a horse show in this city or in the South.

TIED MOTHERS. It's hard work to take care of children and to cook, sew, wash, sew and mend besides. Tied mothers should take Hood's Sarsaparilla—it refreshes the blood, improves the complexion, assures restful sleep, and helps in many ways.

GREAT WILL BE HORSE SHOW HERE

Number of Entries and the Standard Ahead of Anything Outside New York.

With the Horse Show nearly two weeks in the future, the sale of seats yesterday was the heaviest since they were offered, a large number of the most desirable ones going. Entries will close to-day, but those mailed October 1st will be received even if they do not reach the city before October 2d. The management is already rushed receiving and recording entries, and will be busy as a hive of bees for the next two days. Already a large number have been received and recorded, including some of the most famous horses in the country. Many entries have been made by local exhibitors in various classes, and Richmond and vicinity are going to be much better represented at the show than was thought some days ago. Among the well known exhibitors is Hon. Henry Fairfax, member of the Corporation Commission, who has a fine stock farm at Aldie, Loudoun county. He has nine entries in the saddle and harness classes, and has some horses that are going to be heard from when the ribbons are handed out by the judges.

Box-holders are urged to call for their seats to-day, and before 3 P. M., if possible. This is the last day for calling for them. The management have many urgent calls for boxes, and unless those who have asked to have them reserved desire the tickets the boxes can be disposed of in a twinkling.

Some idea of the magnitude of the show, compared with last year's, may be had from the statement that the number of box stalls has been more than doubled and still others will be built. Secretary Warden, Manager Smith and President Anderson are all up to their eyes in work. To-day and to-morrow and Saturday promise to be the hardest days of the show season for the management.

No announcement of entries can be made before all are in and they have been tabulated in the classes to which they belong. This will make it early next week in all probability before the entries can be announced in full. It is certain that the number of entries and the standard of them have never been even approximated at any show south of New York city.

The Marine Band, of Washington, which has been engaged to play for the exhibitions each evening and to give daily concerts from 11 A. M. to 1 P. M., is in great demand, and has just gone to Chicago to play at the celebration of the centennial of the founding of that city. The first forenoon concert will be given on Wednesday, and on each forenoon thereafter.

The building, track, band-stand, boxes and ring are all in perfect condition now, and will be kept so until the first class is called into the ring before admiring thousands. All indications point to the largest and most distinguished crowd that ever attended a horse show in this city or in the South.
